THE STUPENDOUS BUILD UP TASK IS COMMENCED

NOW INSPECTING FLOOD DISTRICTS

Ohio Relief Commission Arrives at Stricken Dayton.

WILL VISIT AFFLICTED POINTS

Hamilton, Zanesville, Chillicothe and Ohio River Towns Included in the Commission's Itinerary — Partial Survey Made of Columbus' West Side, Where Additional Dead Have Been Recovered.

Columbus, O., April 3.—Partial inspection of the devastated West Side was made by members of the Ohio flood relief commission, before leaving on the special survey of the other flooded districts of the state, to obtain first-hand knowledge of conditions before expenditure of further funds is made. John H. Patterson, the mainstay of the relief organization at Dayton, said the West Side was much worse hit than he had supposed.

The commission, Governor Cox, John H. Patterson, Dayton; Jacob G. Schmidlap, Cincinnati; S. O. Richardson, Toledo; Homer N. Johnson, Cleveland; George W. Lattimer, Columbus, and Colonel James Kilbourne, also of Columbus, left here by special Pennsylvania railroad train arranged for by Superintendent R. E. McCarty, for Dayton. Inspection also will be made of Hamilton, Cincinnati, Ironton, Portsmouth and other Ohio river points, Marietta, Zanesville, Chillicothe and probably other cities. General John C. Speaks was put in charge of the train. The commission was accompanied by three Red Cross officials, E. N. Bicknell, executive director; S. E. Kingsley and Major Charles Lynch, medical corps, U. S. A. Miss Mabel Boardman, general secretary of the American Red Cross society, left for Washington, after explaining in detail to the commission the Red Cross method of distributing relief. The Red Cross fund for this and other states has passed the $800,000 mark.

More Dead at Columbus.

As the lowlands in the cemetery district slowly yield their dead, the list of Columbus flood victims mounts higher. With the placing in the morgues of nine additional bodies and the finding of another which could not be removed from the drift in which it had lodged, the total reaches 80.

Members of families, of which some bodies have been recovered, still are missing, and they are counted by their friends as dead. The only effort to find them is by searching in the flood-swept lowlands and a close vigil at the morgues. The finding of a body actually seems to be a satisfaction in that it is a relief from suspense, although it destroys a faint hope that the one missing might be alive.

The section between the two cemeteries and the lowlands south of them still continues to produce the greatest number of dead. Water and soft mud impede the search. Few drifts have been removed.

With the recovery of the bodies of Mary Bernice Ford and Elizabeth Gladys Ford, daughters of Charles E. Ford, 348 Centner avenue, the last of the Ford family has been found. The bodies of Mrs. Ford and another daughter, Frankie, had been previously recovered.

C. A. Wilkins, 1097 West Rich street, suffered his last heartache when he identified the body of his daughter Dorothy, 12, at the morgue. The mother and two children, Maxine and Donna, 16 and 6 years, previously had been identified.

3,200 Houses Wrecked.

City Solicitor Bolin told the special joint committee of the legislature on remedial flood laws something of the extent of the water damage in Columbus. He said that 3,289 houses had been damaged, some of them having had water on the second floor, and

CHEER UP

We've had our time of flood and gloom.

We've neared the awful doors of doom,

And some have entered in;
But now the sun of hope peeps out.

Old Trouble we can put to rout,
So grin, gosh dern it, grin!

—Luke McLukey.

Even in sections where the loss of life was not heavy the damage to property will be tremendous. With the water in many houses up to the roofs, little of the furnishings will be of any value. Traffic in large areas of the city was possible only by boat.

Looking For Victims of Columbus Flood.

For days after the flood began rescuers in boats traversed the streets of the submerged sections looking for persons who might be alive. Hundreds were taken from the roofs and upper stories of houses. Doubtless bodies of others will be found when the water recedes.

there were 284 improved lots on which there is now no improvement, not even a fence, the houses and buildings having been swept away. Some improved lots are now holes 15 to 20 feet deep.

Prosecutor Edward C. Turner, at the request of Judge Dittiey of the state tax commission and Representative Black of Cincinnati, presented drafts of enabling acts to be used by the municipalities and counties. Mr. Turner thought it sufficient to exempt relief work for 1913 flood damage from the Smith tax law, the Longworth debt limit law and other provisions restricting or delaying action.

Mayor Henry T. Hunt of Cincinnati insisted this was a good opportunity for general amendment of the Smith 1 per cent law. Most of the mayors of Ohio municipalities, he said, thought the internal limitations of the Smith law should be removed.

Cox to Get Out a Newspaper.

Columbus, O., April 3.—Before the end of the week Governor Cox will be printing a free newspaper under a tent at Dayton, the power to run the press being furnished by a traction engine. Dayton newspaper presses were all put out of business by the flood. In his efforts to furnish the stricken Daytonites with news, the governor bought the Columbus News plant and shipped it to Dayton on a flatcar.

COLUMBUS BANK PROBE STILL DRILLS INTO SECRETS

Columbus, O., April 3.—Before Master Commissioner Okey, H. W. Backhus, secretary-treasurer of the defunct Columbus Savings and Trust company, continuing his testimony, testified that when J. B. Cameron became president of the bank, he came to the bank with $25,000 in currency and notes from the York Wall Paper company, York, Pa., of which he was a director, deposited the currency and received a New York draft for $24,500. He had previously been refused a loan by the bank on the grounds that its reserve fund would not permit such a transaction. Then state money was deposited so the bank would have enough to make the loan. Backhus charged that Mr. Cameron urged destruction of papers and books showing alleged illegal deposits of state funds.

Ban On Long Hatpins.

Berlin, April 3.—Women who persist in wearing pointed hatpins without protectors on them will be subject to a fine after April 15. After having failed to persuade the women to discard the sharp hatpins, Berlin's police president announces that after the 15th transgressors will be fined up to $15 for each offense, and if they do not pay they will be imprisoned.

Dayton Will Seek Loan.

Dayton, O., April 3.—Plans are being drafted by the men of Dayton who will take the lead in the reconstruction of the city, by which the federal government will be asked for a loan of from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 to assist the flood-stricken city to get back on its feet.

Special Train Bring Remains Of Dead Man To French City

MORGAN'S DEATH DUE TO NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

Body of Financier Placed on French Liner at Havre.

Paris, April 3.—The train bearing the body of J. Pierpont Morgan arrived here this morning from Rome, where the body was placed aboard yesterday afternoon. It consisted of three cars. The body was taken to the Havre station, where a special train was in readiness to convey it to Havre, where it was placed on board the French line steamer France.

The members of the family are all well, and express their appreciation deeply of the courtesies which have been extended by the Italian and French governments.

Professor Bastianelli, who attended Mr. Morgan in his last illness, says the financier's death was due to nervous dyspepsia and absolutely nothing else.

"Leader" In Politics Is Told Where To Head In

Albany, N. Y., April 3. — Governor Sulzer warned William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican state committee, to keep away from the state capitol building while the legislature is in session or he would take steps to make him. The governor was very much disturbed when he learned that Mr. Barnes frequently visits the rooms in the capitol set aside for the use of Senator Elon R. Brown of Watertown and Assemblyman Harvey J. Hinman, the Republican leaders of the senate and assembly. Mr. Barnes had a long talk with Senator Brown just before the senator introduced a resolution aimed at Governor Sulzer's impeachment for promising the railroad trainmen before election that he would sign the full crew bill if elected governor.

Recedes at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., April 3. — After remaining stationary nearly 24 hours, the Ohio river began falling here. The indications are that it will continue to fall slowly, and that the end of the flood is in sight.

EXPERTS SAYING PROPOSED MEASURE WON'T DO

WILL FALL SHORT $25,000,000

New Tariff Revision Bill Not a Revenue Producer.

SITUATION DISTURBS LEADERS

Developments Leading to the Conclusion That the Measure Soon To Be Introduced in the House Will Be the President's Own Bill—Chief Executive Standing For Low Rates On All Foodstuffs.

Washington, April 3.—Democratic members on the ways and means committee were greatly disturbed when treasury experts reported that the tariff revision bill which the committee has drawn would fall at least $25,000,000 short of the amount that would be needed from customs sources to keep the wheels of government in motion. The revenue problem thus presented was made more acute by the expressed wish of President Wilson that many rates of the bill, notably those relating to foodstuffs and farm products, be reduced below the figures tentatively agreed upon by the committee.

Daily the developments in the tariff situation are leading to the conclusion that the bill to be introduced in the house will be President Wilson's own measure; thus it will conform in detail to his wishes, and from the beginning he will be called upon to assume responsibility for it. The moderate revisionists declared that the president would either have to forego some of the reductions which he is demanding or else the rate incomes would have to be raised.

In the bill submitted to the president several days ago rates were lowered in such a manner as to effect a reduction of something over $100,000,000 in the government receipts. More than $50,000,000 was knocked off by putting sugar on the free list and another $30,000,000 by giving up the corporation tax.

In regard to foodstuffs, President Wilson, however, is not asking as much of the committee as he did a

Nearby City Suffers Much By the Floods Need of Help

CHILICOTHE NEEDS HELP

City's Loss in the Flood Very Heavy. Three Yet Missing.

Chillicothe, O., April 3.—An appraisal committee consisting of nine leading citizens completed its work, their figures showing that the loss to real estate alone in the city of Chillicothe amounted to $259,055. The furniture loss was not estimated, but it will easily be $150,000 more. The body of Elsie Barnes was recovered within 100 yards of where her sister was found. William Baxter, Samuel Vanscoy and David Nolze are missing. Thirteen bodies have been recovered.

NEW CREAMERY WILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS DURING THIS MONTH

H. L. Spray, Experienced Butter Maker of Jacksonville, Ill., Has Been Employed to Take Charge of the Plant.

Mr. H. L. Spray, of Jacksonville, Ill., has been employed by the Fayette Creamery company to have full charge of the butter making at the company's splendidly equipped plant on Columbus avenue.

It is the intention of the company to open the plant for business some time between the 10th and 20th of this month, depending upon the arrival of certain parts of the equipment, which have been held upon account of the delayed railroad traffic.

Milk routes are being established, and the farmers are responding liberally to the plan and everything looks bright for the new enterprise in this city.

Mr. Spray, the butter-maker, has had a number of years of experience, and is a former Buckeye boy. He has a wife and two children and will move to this city within a month or two.

With the services of an expert butter maker the company will be able to produce the highest grade butter that can be made.

Everything connected with the new enterprise is reported in the best of condition, and the Board of Directors are greatly pleased with the plant and the progress made toward actual opening of the plant.

Mr. Spray is stopping at the Arlington hotel at present, and is a very agreeable man.

Brothers Taken To the Asylum

Ogan Klever, 36, and his brother, Bruce Klever, 40, who were placed under arrest several days ago upon an affidavit filed by Mayor Davis of Jeffersonville, were tried before Probate Judge Allen Wednesday afternoon, found insane, and ordered committed to the State Hospital at Columbus.

The two men were taken to the State Hospital Thursday morning by Sheriff Nelson.

Both men were from Jeffersonville and both have been regarded as imbeciles for some time, and have gradually become worse.

Both men were inclined to be quarrelsome upon the least provocation, and while not openly violent, were regarded as being unsafe to run at large.

Court House Janitor Resigns

B. A. Carson, court house janitor, has tendered his resignation to take effect April 30 at six o'clock p. m.

During his service at the court house Carson has been complimented upon the manner in which he has taken care of the place, and recently when the Board of Commissioners failed to act upon the request of nearly 75 persons, including the court house attaches, asking that the salary of Carson be increased from $50 to $60 per month, Carson decided to resign, and has tendered his resignation accordingly.

Carson's predecessor received $60 per month, but the present Board of Commissioners cut the salary to $50.

May Withdraw From Missouri

Chicago, April 2.—Representatives of fire insurance companies doing business in Missouri met here today and recommended a suspension of their business in that state until the legal basis of their operations can be determined.

The fire insurance men asserted that the repeal of the Oliver state rating law by the Missouri Legislature and the passage of an amendment to the anti-trust law relating to fire insurance had made the statutes of the business uncertain in Missouri.

The Attorney-General of Missouri announced that unless the fire insurance companies reduced their rates at once in accordance with the law he would begin criminal proceedings against them. The insurance men who met today said that the new law is unduly severe and that an understanding must be reached under which they can do business or their withdrawal from the state will be necessary.

House Leader And President In Conference On Reduction Of the Tariff

Proposed Changes in Existing Schedules Are Studied By Chief Executive—Underwood Is in Accord With Wilson.

FREE SUGAR OPPONENTS

Prepare to Fight Proposed Reduction in Rates on Sugar to the Limit—Other Protected Interests Are Lining Up for the Fight.

Washington, April 2.—President Wilson and Representative Oscar W. Underwood were in conference for several hours at the White House for the second time over features of the proposed tariff revision.

After the conference the free sugar plan and the 15 per cent tax on wool were hanging in the balance. Underwood, upon leaving the White House, would only vouchsafe the information that "progress" had been made; that there were no differences between the President and himself and that the majority of his committee would meet again.

However, the fight against putting raw sugar on the free list and against retaining the duty on raw wool and over some other parts of the tariff revision is understood to have led the President to hesitate in committing himself upon those matters until he has had an opportunity to obtain further light.

The conference was asked for by President Wilson, who had been studying the new tariff bill for several days and familiarizing himself with many of the questions about which controversy has been raised in the preparation of the Democratic revision measure.

Will Settle Schedules.

Other conferences which are to follow with Underwood and Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, will settle the status of the sugar, wool and agricultural schedules, so far as the party leaders can settle them, and will decide whether one general bill or separate schedule bills shall be passed by the House.

Oppose Removal of Duty.

Opponents of free sugar, chiefly representing the cane-growing sections of the South, have made strong representations to the President during the last week against the removal of all duty from that product, and the President has been weighing the argument upon this and other tariff questions.

Since his first conference with Underwood President Wilson had gone over the tariff bill in immediate detail with Secretary Redfield, of the Department of Commerce, for whose tariff views he has high regard. It was understood that few detailed rates were under consideration at last night's conference, but that the general questions as to the free admission of raw materials and the extent to which the duty should be removed from agricultural products and articles largely consumed by the public were discussed fully.

May Meet Friday.

Efforts to bring the Senate and House into accord before the details of the new tariff bill become public are to be made late this week. Senator Simmons will ask Democratic members in the Senate Finance committee to meet for a preliminary consideration of the tariff.

At that time it is expected that a copy of the bill prepared by the House Ways and Means Committee will be submitted to the Democratic Senators and considered in detail.

Should the Senate committee determine that certain features of the bill will not be acceptable in the Senate, efforts will be made to have the draft of the bill changed by the House committee or by the Democratic membership of the House when it meets in caucus next week, so that House and Senate may be brought into as complete accord as possible in support of the House bill.

Heart-to-heart Chats Are Planned

Washington, April 2.—Convinced that public business would be expedited by the practice, President Wilson has decided to set aside two hours each week for "Heart-to-heart" talks with the newspaper correspondents. One hour will be devoted to the writers each Tuesday morning and another hour will be given over to the same purpose Thursday afternoons. The President will discuss administration policies and sketch his official programs, much of the matter discussed necessarily being in confidence and solely for the guidance of the writers.

Getting Ready For Encampment

Col. B. H. Millikan and his corps of assistants are commencing to get very busy with arrangements pertaining to the State Encampment of the G. A. R., to be held in this city, June 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Several other cities sought the honor of entertaining the veterans this year, but because of the great success of the encampment here, some years ago, when the hospitality of Washington C. H. was greatly enjoyed, the old soldiers chose to come here again.

A committee of citizens asked that the encampment be held here. Both of the local posts desired that it come and the council also urged that the gathering be brought here.

From 5000 to 7000 veterans are expected, and in a few days committees will call upon the citizens of Washington to arrange for their entertainment. Lest there be any misunderstanding in the matter The Herald is asked to state that no one will be asked to entertain any one free of charge. The same rates will be paid for lodgings and meals as obtained in the previous encampment.

It is hoped that a very ready response will be made to the requests of the committee for accommodations and that the great crowd that is expected will be easily cared for.

ORDERS ISSUED TO TROOPS WHO GUARD CITY OF DAYTON

By Reading the General Orders Under Which Militia Work One May Glean a Fair Idea of What the Average Citizen May Do Without Being "Called" While in the Gem City.

Following is a copy of the General Orders which must be followed by the troops now guarding Dayton against looters:

The following regulations to govern sentinels of the Second and Third zones are published:

(a) At all hours of the day or night the wagons, trucks and employees of The Police Department, Fire Department, Ambulance Service, Department of Public Works, Lighting Companies (Electric and Gas), Telephone Companies, Telegraph Companies, Train crews and office employees of steam and electric railroads, Practicing Physicians and Surgeons, Undertakers, Government and State Employees, will be allowed to pass in and out through all streets and alleys not specifically shut to all traffic. The above will be allowed to pass by all sentinels with as little challenging at night as possible. Ambulances and patrol wagons displaying a green lantern to the sentinels on approaching their posts, will be allowed to pass without challenge.

(b) Between 5:30 a. m. and 6 p. m. persons having business within the flooded district or those who live or desire to work within will be allowed to pass stations of the guard specifically instructed for day challenging.

It is intended that persons living within the lines will be permitted during the day to pass out of the town district without challenge, but it is not intended that during the day challenging will be stringently resorted to, the purpose being to keep all persons without business or employment outside the down town district. Only the most reliable men should be put to this important work and where wagons are evidently carrying stores or men with working tools, it will not be necessary to even stop them, but those men carrying a camera on one arm and a female on the other, are evidently not intending to work and should be questioned.

(c) During the day in the business district, sentinels will exercise the greatest vigilance, to be assured that persons entering stores are duly employed, and employers are required to furnish their employees letters of identification for the purpose of passing to and from their work and entering the premises in which they are employed.

(d) AT NIGHT, in addition to those specifically mentioned above (see subdivision a), sentinels will pass at all times those having the authorized passes signed by

The General Commanding (General George H. Wood), Adjutant General (Captain Cyrus E. Mead), Ass't Adjutant General (Lieutenant E. O. Clark), all zone Commanders, John H. Patterson, Autos and vehicles bearing the properly numbered relief car signs, Home-made signs and those formerly issued by The National Cash Register Co. without register numbers are void, and officers are instructed to stop cars bearing said signs and remove them.

(e) All unauthorized persons attempting to pass a post will be taken to the District Commander, who will personally examine each person so detained and use his discretion as to whether or not they shall be sent to the Zone Military Prison.

(f) Indiscriminate shooting will develop a condition entirely undesirable, and the use of this method of enforcing orders should be resorted to only in the gravest emergency, and a report must be made by each officer or non-commissioned officer in charge of posts of all shots fired stating the name of the sentinel, his company and the conditions under which the shot was fired.

By order of Colonel Catrow.

President of The B. & O. Stops Here

A special train bearing President Daniel Willard of the B. & O. railroad, passed through this city Thursday morning, making a short stop. He was accompanied by the third vice-president, A. M. Thompson and F. L. Stuart, chief engineer of the company.

While here they held a short consultation with Mr. R. C. Hunt, who is regarded as one of the biggest engineers of the middle west, and who may assist in the rebuilding of some parts of the road.

The company has 6000 men at work in Ohio alone, and fifteen pile drivers are being utilized in the work, according to Mr. Willard some of these pile drivers were borrowed from points as far west as Omaha, Neb.

Trains may run into the Union Station some time this week, it is said, as one main line will be placed in condition by the various roads, and will be used jointly until other lines can be rebuilt.

Local Relief Committee Is Still in Close Touch With Stricken Cities

Chairmen of Dayton and Columbus Relief Committee Express Appreciation of Quantity and Quality of Supplies Sent From This County—Still Have Money In Treasury.

The local Relief committee is still keeping in touch with conditions in Chillicothe, Columbus and Dayton, and have quite a neat sum in the treasury which is to be utilized in furnishing relief where most needed. Not a day passes but what the local committee communicates direct with the relief committees in the stricken cities. Chillicothe has the situation well in hand.

In all Washington has sent seven car-loads of provisions and supplies to the various cities, also two auto loads of blankets and oil stoves to Chillicothe.

Six of the seven cars went to Dayton and one to Columbus, where every particle of the shipments were utilized in short order.

Chairman Van Horn of the Relief committee of Dayton informed Secretary Ray F. Zander of the Y. M. C. A. that the supplies sent from this city were among the very best received, and

"Considering the prompt and liberal manner in which Washington responded, and the careful way in which the high class supplies were packed, Washington must be one of the best places on earth."

Mr. Harry Blair, of the Columbus Relief committee is quoted as saying that "The car load of provisions sent by Fayette county citizens was the best of all we have received, and had been packed in a systematic manner so that the contents of every box was described on the outside. The supplies could not have been better, and it is with the sense of deepest gratitude that Columbus flood sufferers extend their thanks."

The careful packing and listing of the provisions and supplies was done for the most part by a large number of women who worked at the Y. M. C. A. early and late preparing the shipments, and much praise is due them for their splendid work.

Erroneous reports were circulated that the supplies sent to Dayton by this city stood on the track for a day or two before they were touched. As a matter of fact everything sent was quickly utilized and fully appreciated by the starving, freezing citizens of Dayton.

Mrs. E. M. Simpson, mother of Mrs. Tom Patterson, a former resident of this city, died in Lafayette, Ind., Thursday, March 27th, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ed Boswell.

Remains will be brought to Wilmington, O., for burial as soon as railway facilities will permit.

REGULAR SCHEDULE

Passenger Service Resumed on the Pennsylvania Railroad After More Than Eight Days During Which Not an Engine Passed Over the Road.

After more than eight days, during which not a wheel of an engine turned on the Pennsylvania railroad, passing through this city, a work train reached this city from the east shortly after eight o'clock Wednesday night, and was followed Thursday morning by a passenger train and the announcement has been made that the regular passenger schedule will be observed, beginning Thursday morning.

Not since the construction of the road more than a half century ago has such a thing occurred as even a week passing without a wheel-turning, but so seriously was the road handicapped that the difficulties were unsurmountable. It so happened that not an engine, freight or passenger, was caught between Morrow and the Scioto river, consequently the repair work was necessarily slow and exceedingly difficult.

But work trains were busy on the "other side" and crawled over great stretches of rebuilt track and repaired bridges.

Engineer Applegate and Conductor Horn were in charge of the work train which passed through here Wednesday night, feeling every foot of their way over track which might be dangerous, and over bridges not tested since the flood.

At seven o'clock Thursday morning the first passenger train to reach the city since Tuesday evening, March 25th, passed through to Wilmington, returning as No. 6.

One freight train each way was run Thursday, relieving the congestion and affording a means of shipment of much needed supplies and provisions to various points along the road.

ESTIMATE DAMAGE TO BRIDGES, ROADS AND LEVEES NEAR $15,000

County Commissioners Complete Investigation of Flood Damage in Fayette County—Will Require $9,600 for Bridges and Levees Alone—The Ghormley Bridge Carried 1,000 Feet Down Stream.

The County Commissioners Wednesday completed their investigation of damages to roads, levees and bridges in this county, and have placed the damage to bridges and levees at $9,600 and the further damage to pikes and roads at enough to bring the total damage up to $15,000.

Their immediate investigation was at the request of the State Highway department which urged a careful examination into the damage wrought so that the amount could be used in forming a basis for determining what action the Legislature should take to assist in the relief of the stricken counties.

Only two bridges were carried out, but others have been undermined until they are in a very bad condition, but will be promptly repaired and strengthened so that they will withstand more floods this spring.

One 95-foot span of the two-section Ghormley bridge below Good Hope, was carried away, and some idea of the magnitude of the flood may be gained when it is known the heavy steel bridge weighing many tons was carried down stream nearly 1000 feet and reduced to a twisted mass of junk.

A long stretch of the approach to the bridge was carried away and scattered over some three acres of bottom land, rendering the road impassable for many weeks, and perhaps two or three months.

The Sugar Creek bridge at Jasper is in bad condition. It is of 110 foot span, and the corner stones of the abutment are the only ones supporting the structure. It is impassable. The pike was cut in twain for a considerable distance west of the bridge. Persons traveling the road should detour and avoid the bridge.

Scores of places in the pikes have been washed through and have rendered heavy hauling nearly impossible for the time being.

Poetry For Today

HOPE.

Presently the sorrow
Which bestes you now
Will be cleared away;
By this time tomorrow
You may wonder how
Care came yesterday.

Presently the places
That are cold and drear
Will again be fair;
Joy will light the faces
Where today appear
Traces of despair.

Presently possessing
What you long have sought,
You will think it ill;
But you'll seek some blessing
Other than you've got
And be hopeful still.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

October 24, 1867.

Rev. Mr. King, who has been assigned to the charge of the M. E. church of this place for the ensuing year, preached at the M. E. church on Sabbath morning and evening and produced a favorable impression upon his audience.

Our friend, Henry H. Edwards has our thanks for a basket of very nice apples, the nicest we have seen this season. We are also indebted to Anthony Ross, of near Good Hope, for a basket of the finest sweet potatoes we have seen this season. Our friends evidently understand that printers are as fond of luxuries as other people, and for these evidences of their kindness they have our thanks.

We see it stated that Jeddo, in Japan, is the largest city in the world, having 1,500,000 houses and over 6,000,000 inhabitants. That is a good sized town.

The Chicago Tribune has come out in favor of General Grant for president.

An old citizen has left us. Mr. Jesse Rowe, senior, died at his residence in Concord township, in this county, on the 24th inst., aged about 83 years. Mr. Rowe has been a resident of this county about 50 years.

Palace Theater Greatly Improved

Few metropolitan moving picture theaters present a more attractive and handsomely finished entrance than does the Palace theater, since the owner, Mr. Mark Mechlin, has completed its remodeling.

An entire new vestibule front has been built, with tiled floor, plate glass mirrors, panels of mahogany and mahogany furniture. Clusters of electric lights make effective illumination at night.

The steps leading up to the theater have been removed and a decided improvement is in the incline with rubber tread, which replaces them.

A sanitary drinking fountain has been installed just within the door. A little later Mr. Mechlin expects to make some inside improvements.

The new front is quite an addition to Court street.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

The Standard Oil Company, of Indiana, the corporation made famous by being fined $29,000,000 by Federal Judge Landis, in Chicago, will make the first statement to its stockholders ever made public some time this week.

The file cases in the sub-basement of the new Union Central Life building, at 4th and Vine streets, Cincinnati will alone cost $25,000 and be furnished by the Art Metal Construction company of Jamestown, N. Y.

A motorcycle being driven at high speed caused a fine of $10 and costs to be imposed on its rider in the Cincinnati police court yesterday. The judge noticed the speeder seemed to take proceedings as a joke, and the following severe comment from "his honor" had the effect of sobering him a bit. "If you haven't the $10 go down stairs to the cell room. Next time you are guilty of this offense a term in the work house awaits you. Perhaps then you will appreciate that it is no joke so to speed your machine as to endanger the lives of children and others crossing the streets.

Alaska has given votes to women and assigns the following good reason. At present women are scarce and the settlers need wives, so the first bill passed by the first legislature by a unanimous vote was a pleasing and understood invitation to all spinsters that they may expect anything and everything they wish in that territory.

There will be an exhibit at the Ohio State fair this year of color printing works of Indian mythology according to word received by the board from S. H. Contractor, of Station Tarrance, Grant Road, Bombay, India. The exhibit will be of extraordinary interest to artists and lovers of art as the East Indians do wonderful work along artistic lines.

The Pheillis sale, in Clark county recently, was perhaps the largest and most successful in that locality for many years. The sale totaled about $12,500. Among other articles and things sold was 45 head of horses and colts that averaged over $160 per head.

New Jersey has already spent for improved stone highways about $7,000,000, while in the state of New York 3000 miles of stone road cost $50,000,000. The total amount spent by 11 states that have given their country roads serious attention have been more than $100,000,000 spent on 12,000 miles of road. Pennsylvania, many times larger than New Jersey, has improved less than 800 miles of her roads. Glutrin has been found to be the most successful binder used in New Jersey.

Sixty thousand army rations were turned over to the State Relief commission at Columbus Wednesday. ## To Be Unhappy Is to Blame Life Unjustly

By HENRY MARX, French Poet

TO BE UNHAPPY IS TO BLAME LIFE UNJUSTLY. THOSE WHO UNDERSTAND THIS AND REALIZE THAT HAPPINESS IS OF THEIR OWN MAKING KNOW THAT PARADISE IS TO BE FOUND HERE ON EARTH.

It should be the duty of the governments of the world to DESTROY THE ANGUISH AND TERROR felt by living creatures toward nature, life and death.

The Sciotto rose rapidly, and it was soon apparent that the bridge would be submerged, if not carried away. Gradually the force of the water overcame the strength of the structure, and span after span was demolished until the entire bridge was gone.

White Eagle Home Goes Down With The Others

Piqua, Ohio, April 2.—The number of bodies recovered in Piqua was increased by two today. The number now stands at 25.

While the search for bodies is being conducted it is difficult to secure men to make the search, as most of them are engaged in the restoration of their homes.

It is believed that many bodies will be found when the debris and mud deposits are removed from the Pennsylvania Railroad, the East Main-street and the lower bridge.

When the flood was raging many buildings were carried against these bridges and crushed, and the persons upon them disappeared in the water and were seen no more.

Among the houses destroyed and carried away was the handsome residence of Dr. White Eagle McCarty, father of Luther McCarty, champion of the white hopes in the pugilistic world. When the McCarty home was carried out into the torrent a man and a woman were seen upon the roof. The house struck the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge and was crushed like an egg shell. The man and the woman were seen to go down in the waters clasped in each other's arms.

The favorite Greyhound of White Eagle was upon the roof and just an instant before the house struck the bridge the dog made a leap and landed safely upon the bridge. The couple who disappeared are believed to have been Eagle Eye and his white wife, whom he wedded in Cincinnati recently. Dr. McCarty and wife were in Williamstown, Ky.

One of the greatest needs is money. Nearly all of the factories, all of which were outside the flood district except three, have resumed operations. Those who had pay days this week have paid their men.

One of the flood refugees is John W. Coffey, who years ago traveled with Barnum's Circus as the Ohio skeleton dude. He and his mother are penniless. Their home was destroyed. They have been taken to the County infirmary.

Engineer Well-known Here Is Lauded for Erecting Structure Which, Although Condemned Eleven Years Ago, Is Only One to Withstand the Flood and Assist in Saving the Flood Sufferers.

Eleven years ago the West Rich street bridge in Columbus was condemned as unsafe.

During the recent flood it is the only street bridge connecting east and west Columbus that was not carried away by the rushing waters.

Now it is alive with traffic, streams of vehicles of every description pouring through it and great crowds of persons crossing it every hour in order to get to or from the West Side.

Even the mail received in this city has been carried over it to the B. & O. in west Columbus.

Had the bridge gone out it is safe to say the story of the West Side would have been different, as it afforded a means of reaching hundreds of those marooned on shaky buildings, and they were rescued in safety, crossing the old Rich street bridge and seeking refuge in the main part of Columbus east of the river.

The famous bridge was erected many years ago by Josiah Kinnear, well known here, and father of Mr. Ed Kinnear, who has the contract to pave Rawling street, and is a brother-in-law to Mr. N. S. Barnett. Mr. Kinnear was also prominently associated with the building of the B. & O. railroad through this city.

Speaking of the old bridge and its value as a life saver, the Columbus Dispatch says in part:

"It might well be considered an intervention of Providence that stayed the county and city from replacing the Rich street bridge with one of-modern 'under-slung' construction. It had been condemned, but not rebuilt, and when the great flood came it survived its fellows of more recent pattern and stood sturdily in its place, the only remaining serviceable link between the city proper and the stricken West Side. Over it went, first the rescue boats and launches, and then a stream of supplies and provisions that saved those in the flooded district from facing starvation. Since then it is bearing the West Side's only water main, and it is now giving access for the army of men employed by the city and service companies to restore the West Side to inhabitable condition. If the Rich street bridge had gone out, it is safe to say that the story of the West Side flood would be now but half told. There is a lesson in the character of its construction.

House of Mystery Is Saved Again

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 2.—The "house of mystery" which floated down the Ohio River in 1884 and settled on the property of William Burroughs, its owner or occupants never being known, was saved from a second voyage down the waste of waters last night by the heroism of Captain Edward Moeller of Fire Company 11 and his men. Days ago the structure was vacated by its tenants. Last night seeing that it was about to float away, Captain Moeller and his men, getting into a boat, threw ropes about the chimneys of the mysterious house and were not a moment too soon. As the house floated they wound the ropes about a locust tree and moored the building to the tree. The strange wanderer through the '84 flood still contains some of the pictures it had at the time. One of them is of a man of about 30 years of age in the uniform of a soldier of the Civil War. Another is that of a boy, who if living would be about 35 years old now. Still another picture is that of a young man and woman. The woman, who was very pretty, wears a bridal veil, and carries a bouquet in her hands, and the likeness was undoubtedly taken after a wedding ceremony. When the house floated to the East End a meal for four was set on a table. In an attic room was a table, an open Bible and a lamp, the oil of which had burned out.

Young Men Pledge $500

The Young Men's Bible class of the Christian church, at a meeting held this week, decided to raise $500 toward the erection of the new Christian church.

There are some 40 members in the class, and all have set to work with a will to assist in every way they can toward building the new edifice, and the amount they have pledged will be of great assistance.

So far nothing definite has been decided upon for the new church, as a much larger church than the present one is desired, but it cannot be placed on the small corner lot occupied by the church at present.

Ex-President Taft Given Welcome By Students

New Haven, Conn., April 2.—Undergraduate Yale welcomed former President William Howard Taft back to his alma mater yesterday in a manner no less hearty and enthusiastic than was the Godspeed given Woodrow Wilson by the Princeton students when he left Princeton a month ago to take up the duties at Washington that Mr. Taft was about to lay down.

Mr. Taft is no stranger to New Haven, having made frequent trips here during his presidency by virtue of being a member of the Yale Corporation, but it is doubtful whether he ever received a more cordial welcome.

When it became known that Mr. Taft had accepted the Kent professorship of law at Yale, New Haven was anxious to give him a formal welcome, but it was omitted at Mr. Taft's request. Yale students, however, were not to be denied their wish to welcome him back.

Practically the entire student body, 3,000 strong, re-enforced by a band, was at the station when Mr. Taft and his party arrived this afternoon.

Citizens Join in Ovation.

An equally large crowd of citizens also was present. As the Taft party stepped from the train Captain Spalding, of last year's football team, stepped forward and presented Mrs. Taft with a great bouquet of violets.

A moment later Yale's famous "Frog Chorus," with nine "Tafts" on the end, roared from 3,000 throats.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Taft were deeply moved by the reception. Mr. Taft's famous smile was lacking for a moment and he wore a serious look. As the demonstration grew, however, he smiled broadly and doffed his hat in acknowledgment.

Headed by the "Y" men of the athletic teams and a bulldog straining at its leash, the procession proceeded to the campus. Mr. and Mrs. Taft, with a delegation from the faculty, followed in an automobile. All along the line the ex-President and Mrs. Taft were given a continuous ovation. Arriving on the campus Mr. Taft was escorted to a balcony on Memorial Hall. As he started to speak he received another great ovation.

Visibly affected, Mr. Taft said: "Men of Yale, you will believe me when I tell you that I am greatly touched by this student reception."

Then, with a smile, he said: "When it was suggested to me I deprecated it, and thought it might be better to defer until I took my departure, but as I hope that may be definitely postponed, and as I hope that Mrs. Taft and I are to become permanent residents of this city and members of the faculty of Yale College, I thought it was best to take what was coming to me at first."

Becomes Active Yale Man.

"You may have heard more or less discussion when Presidents of the United States are retired—voluntarily or otherwise—as to what should be done with them. When I took inventory all I had was a somewhat tarnished reputation as a lawyer, a profession that I had abandoned 30 years ago, but at the suggestion of President Hadley it was decided that what little law I have left might be put into practice here, and I am here again to become an active Yale man."

"Men of Yale, as I hear your cheers and songs, I feel young again—as if I have shed some of my years. All this may seem egotistical to you, but I come here wanting to help what little I can the young men who are going out into the nation. I want to help preserve that part of the nation that is worth preserving and without which the nation cannot exist. If I can do this I shall thank God for the opportunity."

"I am here to work in the ranks with you and to aid the President of the college, who is now away from you, but who soon is coming back in improved health. I propose a cheer for Arthur Hadley."

A long Yale cheer was given with a will and another for Taft. Then came the impressive singing of "Bright College Years," Yale's song of songs, with the assemblage standing with bared heads. Mr. Taft joined in the singing and waved his hat with the students with the concluding words:

"For God, for Country and for Yale."

Mr. and Mrs. Taft later went to the hotel where they are to make their home temporarily.

Chillicothe Withdraws; Will Not Debate

Owing to the flooded condition of Chillicothe, the triangular debate consisting of Chillicothe, Circleville and Washington C. H. High schools has been changed this year to a dual debate between Circleville and Washington. The homes of four of the Chillicothe debaters of Chillicothe High school have been flooded and one debater is ill.

The question is, "Resolved That Cities Should Own and Control Their Own Water and Light Plants." The debate consisting of the affirmative team of Washington and the negative team of Circleville will be held at Washington Friday evening, April 11th. The debate promises to be very interesting as well as instructive.

EVEN DOZEN PRISONERS

Record-breaking Number of Men Confined in County Jail Last Night—Largest Number Since the County Voted Dry.

Not for many years has the number of prisoners confined in the county jail been so great as it was last night, when twelve persons reposed behind the strong walls and steel bars of the prison.

The number has been increasing rapidly during the past week or ten days, and when the Grand Jury convenes Monday of next week it will give attention to charges against nine of the prisoners who have been bound over under various charges. There are three "Alberts" in the prison.

Two of the prisoners, Ogan and Bruce Klever, were taken to the State hospital Thursday morning, while one "Tut" Jackson, will be taken to the work house today or tomorrow to work out a sentence imposed for carrying concealed weapons and resisting an officer.

The other men, consisting of four colored and five white, are: William A. Roberts, colored, burglarizing Dice Mark Hardware store; Eddie Suttles, uttering a forged check on H. M. Murphy of Octa; Blaine Hurley, colored, shooting to kill; Albert Hughes, Albert Perry, Willie West (colored) and Robert Anderson, burglarizing Joe McQuay's store at Good Hope; Eugene or Wilbur McBride, colored, passing forged check at local bank.

It is claimed that the number of prisoners is the largest in a half score or more of years.

Receiver Named For Ohio Bank

Ravenna, Ohio, April 2.—The doors of the Portage County Savings and Loan Company have been closed by order of the Board of Directors on discovery of an alleged discrepancy in the accounts of Secretary S. J. Post, and a petition was filed in the Common Pleas Court asking for a receiver.

The Court appointed Judge O. P. Sperra of Ravenna, former State Inspector of Building and Loan Securities, who gave a bond of $50,000.

Post's bond is $10,000. The company has a surplus of $13,000. The discrepancy is estimated by the board to be about $15,000 but the actual amount cannot be known until the pass books have been called in and audited with the books of the company.

Post is said to have admitted the discrepancy and says he commenced using the company's money many years ago, keeping memoranda of the amounts until he said he was hopelessly involved, when he tore them up and borrowed more to try to save himself through plunging.

The institution has real estate loans aggregating $500,000, running stock of $106,000, paid up stock of $82,000 and deposits of $330,000.

Officials say the depositors will be paid in full.

Volcanoes Of Far Off Samoa

Of the ten islands that comprise the beautiful Samoan group, says a writer in the March Wide World Magazine, the largest is called Savali, which has been the scene of much volcanic activity in the past. There are several extinct volcanoes in the group, and at the present time there is an active volcano on Savali which has been pouring forth its lava for several years. During its career of destruction it has swept away many native villages and demolished some European buildings.

This volcano broke out in a valley. Today the valley has disappeared, and a high mountain stands in its place, and miles of fertile country, stretching from the burning mountain to the sea, eastward of the settlement of Matautu, have been laid waste.

Millions of tons of lava, now formed into hard rock, have been exuded by this fiery mount, and in its course the river of fire has swept away thousands of breadfruit trees, coconuts, bananas, and other fruits which abound throughout these tropical islands.

Not so long ago—in fact, when Vesuvius was last in eruption—it was observed that this Savalian volcano also entered upon a renewal of activity, being joined by another small volcano on the island of Tofua, in the Tongan group.

The volcano itself is situated some twelve miles inland, though the lava in its circuitous route to the sea travels fifteen or sixteen miles.

It has widened out on the sea front to a width of some eight or nine miles, leaving a rugged and iron-bound coastline, and in one place a narrow promontory just out towards the reef for a distance of close upon a mile.

The volcano has a height of two thousand feet, and the lava-flow covers nearly thirty-five square miles.

Previous to 1902 the traveler to Samoa who could spare the time was told that the one great thing to be seen was the lava fields, or mu (the burnt), still almost bare of vegetation, caused by an eruption perhaps fifteen hundred years ago.

The present active volcano is situated to the north-west of this ancient lava bed. Such is its activity that the configuration of the coastline where the lava pours itself into the sea has been completely altered, and the eye now rests, not upon a low, sandy foreshore, girdled with trees and foliage, but upon a drear expanse of black lava and a high, forbidding frontage of iron-bound coast.

A Real Queen of Diamonds Is "Lucky" Baldwin's Daughter

WHEN a woman rejoices in the possession of several millions she has a perfect right to "blow in" $363,400 on an opera outfit if she sees fit. At least that's what Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker thinks. She's "Lucky" Baldwin's daughter, the late "Lucky" Baldwin of California, whose many escapes from death and whose worldly good fortune made him one of the most picturesque figures of the west. Mrs. Stocker is here pictured in her $363,400 rig—diamonds, gold gown, diamond studded stockings and all. They say she rather made Los Angeles sit up and take notice when she bloomed forth at the opera thus gorgeously equipped. What do you think of her and her method of spending money?

IN SOCIETY

In compliment to her attractive guest, Miss Katharine Moeller, of Portsmouth, Miss Roxie Stinson entertained with "500" Wednesday afternoon.

It was altogether a charming affair, handsomely appointed with a profusion of flowers, snap dragons and carnations, adding fragrance to the rooms and thirty matrons and girls at play in a spirited game. Mrs. James Ford scored high progressions and was presented with a pearl handled cheese knife and Miss Moeller received a sterling silver lemon fork as guest favor.

Eastman catered, serving an elaborate collation at the close of the game.

Mrs. Arthur Burgett assisted in the hospitalities.

The guests were much interested in Miss Moeller's flood experiences. She left her home in Portsmouth just in time to be caught in the rising waters and had quite an experience getting from Chillicothe to Columbus and after a week's detention in the capital city and some inconvenience in securing the necessary passports, reached this city, where she had been expected for ten days.

Mrs. J. E. Sands, of Portsmouth, was also an out-of-town guest.

The "college set", a number of its representatives home for spring vacations, believes in "something doing" and arrangements are being made for a spring vacation dance at the K. P. hall Friday night.

Messrs. Winchel Craig and Kenneth Kyle make up the committee in charge and that there will be a full attendance of young society people is a foregone conclusion.

Horstman and drums will furnish the music.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. Lulu H. Robinson has received word from her brother, Mr. Knox Hutchison, in Dayton, that he and his wife escaped with their lives and that was all. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison were taken out of a second story window in a boat and rowed to a nearby church. The current was very swift and they had a hard battle to keep from drowning. When they reached the church they knocked a hole in one of the windows and climbed through. They were the first to take shelter in the church, but boatloads of people followed until there were thirty in the church, among them mothers with tiny babies and crying children. For two days and nights these thirty people were without heat, light or food and no water except out of a rain spout. The men climbed out on the roof and Mr. Hutchison writes, the scenes they witnessed were too terrible to talk about.

Mrs. Wm. Mitchener and two children, of Dayton, arrived this morning to visit Mrs. Mitchener's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. Willson.

Miss Edith Jenkins, of Austin, is the guest of Misses Ruth and Pearl Parrett.

Mrs. C. E. Lloyd and son, Carl, were visiting at the home of Rev. T. W. Locke and family in Columbus, Wednesday.

Miss Will Moore, of Chillicothe, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Georgiana Glascock.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rowe and Mr. Clark Dennick, who escaped injury in the Dayton flood are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Michael.

Mrs. John Shoop (Ruth Perrill) returned to her home in Chicago today.

Mr. Harris Marchant has engaged nurseryman, J. N. Riley to put out a profusion of shrubbery and trees on the ground around his home, two miles out on the Jeffersonville pike. When the present landscape gardening plans are completed the Marchant home will be one of the most beautiful country places in the county.

Miss Edith Campbell, of Washington, D. C., who has been visiting friends here, is now the guest of Miss Bertha Larrimer in Bloomingburg.

Mrs. Clay Johnson is visiting at the home of her father-in-law, Mr. Clay Johnson, Sr., in Mt. Sterling.

Miss Hazel Gillespie returned Wednesday evening from extended visits with Mrs. Fred Slagle in Ann Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. T. V. Taylor, in Columbus.

Hon. C. A. Reid is a member of the legislative flood investigating committee and was unable to return home when the house adjourned.

Mrs. Martin Hamm and daughter, Miss Edith, went to Chillicothe Thursday to visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCall, of Mt. Sterling, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Butcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schweitzer returned to their former home in Akron Wednesday to look after the removal of their furniture to this city.

County Commissioner Edwin Weaver is a business visitor in Chillicothe.

Farewell Reception Largely Attended

Not in the history of the Presbyterian church has there been a reception marked by more pleasurable features and larger attendance than the farewell reception tendered Rev. William I. Campbell by the Mary Boyd Hale and the Brotherhood Bible classes Wednesday night.

So successful were the entertainers in their role that for the time being the regret, to many a genuine sorrow, accompanying Rev. Campbell's departure, was swallowed up in the evening's delightful sociability.

Receiving with Rev. Campbell were Mrs. Mary Boyd Hale, the senior elder of the church, Mr. J. W. Rothrock and the senior deacon, Dr. G. W. Blakeley.

The women of the Mary Boyd Hale Bible class, Mrs. J. T. Tuttle, president, assisted by the men of the Brotherhood, Dr. Carey Persinger, president, gave every attention to the guests and promoted the sociability which was throughout dominant.

The Washington orchestra played a beautiful program in the auditorium and many left the noshier atmosphere of the Sunday school room to enjoy it. Also a rare concert treat was enjoyed in the final male quartet, Dr. L. P. Howell, Messrs. Bowman, Hicks and Burch which was encored again and again.

In the basement dining room a dainty collation was served under the management of Mrs. Albert McCoy, chairman of the Social committee and her assisting chairmen, Mesdames Hitchcock, Klever, Butcher and Thoroman.

FARM AND HOME

Useful Information—All Questions Answered

GOOD ROADS COURSE A SUCCESS

Contractors, engineers, inspectors, county commissioners, and others interested in good roads to the number of 60 were in attendance at the winter course in highway engineering at the Ohio State University, which ended March 8. In addition, the students in the regular courses in engineering at the University took advantage of this special instruction, which consisted of lectures by noted highway experts and demonstrations of methods of road construction. This winter course, the first of its kind ever held in the state, has been a success, surpassing the expectations of those who planned and inaugurated the movement. The Ohio Good Roads Federation provided the money for this initial course and the legislature has been asked to appropriate money to continue the work next year.

Ohio is among the first of the states to give special instruction of this kind. It is interesting to note in this connection that the regular course in civil engineering at the University affords an excellent training to those who wish to become highway engineers, as it gives instruction in the fundamentals of road and street building, in highway structures of stone, concrete and steel, in highway surveying, and highway materials. In addition, those who wish to specialize have the State Highway Testing Laboratory at hand for testing materials in advance investigations, and have the opportunity to engage in practical highway construction in summer vacations instead of going to camp. Former students are now holding responsible positions in highway departments of both New York and Ohio.

MARKETING PROBLEM AGAIN

Many farmers with good apples to sell and willing to sell them at a reasonable price have been unable to dispose of this fruit this winter. Thousands of consumers in the cities who like good apples and who are willing to pay a reasonable price are unable to obtain them. What is the trouble? A glance at the following figures may throw some light on this problem. A member of the faculty

SAVE THE LIQUID MANURE

"Barnyard manure is the livestock farmer's main reliance in keeping up the supply of nitrogen in the soil," says Porter Elliott, an instructor for the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. "There are two very good reasons for this. First, the cost of nitrogen in the fertilizer sack, and second, the ease with which it can be gotten from the air, where clovers grow vigorously. With proper care three-fourths of the nitrogen in the crops grown and fed on the farm can be returned to the soil. If, however, the liquid part of the manure is allowed to escape only a small part of the nitrogen will be saved. A ton of clover hay, for instance, has in it about 40 pounds of nitrogen. When fed, 10 pounds, on the average, is retained in the animal body, 10 pounds is voided in the dung and 20 pounds passes off with the urine. If the urine is lost then only 10 pounds or one-fourth of the nitrogen in the hay has any chance of going back to the field in the manure." Tight floors and plenty of bedding are recommended by Mr. Elliott as a means of preventing this loss.

Another Gasoline Substitute Found

Gasene, the new fuel liquid whose discovery was made known in the public prints yesterday, is the discovery of Henry B. Taylor, an employee of the Corn Planter Refining company here, and for the last eight months the Corn Planter refinery has been experimenting extensively with his formulas. It was only within the week that any information was given out. Sanguine individuals foresee a cutting in costs for automobile operation, or rather their hopes run in that direction.

It is said by Mr. Taylor and the officials of the refinery that 60 per cent of a barrel of crude oil can be converted into gasene, as against 16 per cent of gasoline from the same amount of crude. It is also claimed for gasene that it will propel an ordinary motor car from 25 to 30 miles to the gallon, while it is only by the use of small motors that 18 to 20 miles can be obtained from a gallon of gasoline.

THE CHEESE AT WORK.

The customer had not been sitting long at the hospitable table of a certain hotel, says an exchange, when he noticed something mysterious about his plate of fine old Stilton and bread.

He watched it very closely for some time, then with a look of awe on his face, called lustily for the waiter.

"Waiter!" he cried, "remove this cheese."

"Beg pardon, sir," said the waiter; "can I bring you any other kind?"

"Remove this cheese, I tell you." "We've some fine Gorgonzola, sir."

"L'll—great Jupiter, man!—if you don't remove it immediately I'll call the police!"

A PAIR OF MOOSE HORNS

As trophies of many seasons spent in the deep wildernesses of Maine and New Brunswick, Mr. Winston has in his house an impressive number of mounted heads of bear, moose, caribou, and other of the larger animals. Among these is a pair of moose antlers of unusual spread, one of them marked by a hole through the broadest part. There is no head with the great branching horns, but the story of their taking is such that the owner regards them as a significant trophy—of a very poor shot!

Some years ago, before the open season was shortened, he was far up in the Aroostook region, above Munsungun Lake, with his guide, still-hunting on the snow. It was a few days before Christmas.

The two were crossing a hillside, when the guide, who was in the lead, suddenly stopped and threw out a warning hand.

Winston halted instantly and followed the other's example in squatting in his tracks.

"What is it, Clint?" he whispered. Clint half-turned his head. "See them bushes about a hundred yards ahead there? No, you ain't lookin' in the right place—just this side the big spruce."

"Yes. I've got it now." "Well, there's a bull moose right in behind there! He's put his head down now, feedin', but I saw his horns when I stopped, an' he's an ol' settler! Wait a minute—there, now you can see 'im!"

Winston looked. There was no sight of the animal's body, but above the leafless but still dense undergrowth appeared the tops of a splendid pair of horns, moving slightly as the moose chewed. He was facing up the hill, with his side toward the hunters.

"Shoot from here," whispered the guide. "You can't get any nearer," and he crouched at one side, out of Winston's path. "Aim low, now," he cautioned. "You can figger where his shoulder'll be. Remember you're shootin' a little down-hill. Hurry up before he moves! Hold 'er low, now!"

Winston did not have buck-fever—he had been in the woods too long for that—but he was by nature a somewhat nervous man, and the unexpectedness of the meeting excited him.

"Yes, yes! I know, I know!" he answered. He threw his rifle hastily to his shoulder and pulled the trigger.

At the crack of the gun the horns disappeared from sight.

"I got him, I got him!" cried Winston.

The guide listened a moment.

"He ain't hurt bad, I guess, and he's goin' down the hill to beat the world! Come on!"

The two ran forward. As they approached the bushes Winston panted:

"I tell you, Clint, he's lying right there! I can see a horn!"

"Horn, nothin'!" cried Clint, excitedly. "He's makin' tracks for the foot of the hill—big ones, too!"

They broke through the screen of bushes.

"What did I tell you!" both men cried at once.

Then Winston added, "O shucks!" and Clint declared, "Well, I swan to man!" as he held up one enormous antler with a bullet hole squarely through its broad blade!

At that time of the year the moose is nearly ready to shed his horns. The impact of Winston's bullet—which he had not aimed low—had given just the sudden jar necessary to shake off the heavy antler. There it lay, while its former owner was separating its mate from it as rapidly as possible.

Clint's hunting instinct was the first to overcome his amusement. "Come on! He won't travel fast with that one horn. He's all lopsided."

Then there came to their ears a sudden tunk!

"Ran into another tree, I guess," panted Clint. "Come on!"

The next moment, however, there were indications of suddenly accelerated speed on the part of the game.

Clint's jaw dropped. "I know what that means!" he muttered.

"What?" gasped his employer.

Before Clint found breath to answer they came in sight of a tall beech with a fresh scar on its bark—and at its foot was the other horn!

A distant sound of breaking underbrush indicated the point where the moose, probably very grateful for the little assistance given to nature, was making a speedy and final exit from the scene.

"Well," said Clint, "even if you did make a thud-daria' poor shot, you got a fine pair o' horns, and Mr. Moose, he ain't regrettin' 'em any. I guess the trappin' ought to be gen'ally satisfactory." —ELISS COBURN.

Watch a Heavy Train Rush By

In the march American Magazine a writer contributing an article "Why Railroad Wrecks Increase" says in part:

"Go, stand beside a track as a large heavy train rushes by. The steel rails rise and fall, and it seems a miracle they do not always break. The ties rise and fall, and are pushed about in the earth or pieces of stone in which they are embedded. The whole structure is extremely flexible. It is utterly unable of itself to resist the tremendous strains and shocks to which it is subjected. It surges and sways, and is preserved from instant and total destruction only by the very coherence imparted to it by the monstrous burden under which it is struggling. The very rails would be twisted apart were it not for the temporary connection made by the axels of the moving train."

"Upon fourteen to twenty wooden ties are placed two narrow steel rails. Upon this thin line of steel constantly pass rolling loads of as high as twenty-five thousand pounds per wheel, and sometimes more. There are freight-trains with nearly eight hundred wheels. Trains are made up weighing upwards of thirteen million pounds. Now the two steel rails, but a few inches thick at the widest point must be so placed upon the fourteen to twenty cross-ties as to be held absolutely in line and in surface true. Upon the track department falls the huge task of so adjusting these wooden ties as to distribute the weight accurately."

"How are these rails laid? A section foreman with manifold and detailed duties, and receiving less than $2 a day, assisted mostly by a lot of ignorant foreign laborers, receiving less than $1.50 a day, squints along the track and lays the rails as best he can. If one cross-tie gets a little out of place, as it may do from any one of a hundred causes, there is a complete change in its relation to every other tie. The work of readjusting is never finished. Each alteration in a tie means a new distribution of the whole load. If the equilibrium is not properly restored, the life of hundreds of human beings, not to speak of great sums of invested capital, may be jeopardized."

Repairing a Tablecloth.

To repair a tablecloth, lay it quite flat with the hole uppermost and cover it with a piece of plain Brussels net, tack it on and darn with fine flax. When ironed it will scarcely be noticeable. If the tablecloth is beyond repair, cut squares from the best part of it and hem round. These will answer as serviettes for every-day use.

Sewing Machine Hint.

It is often difficult to sew any thin fabric, such as any of the modish veiling materials, or silk or muslin, on the machine without puckering it. This can be avoided by placing a sheet of tissue paper under the material and the paper. When finished, the paper can easily be torn away, and you will find that your work is quite flat and smooth.

Bridge In Columbus as Flood Was Rising.

The Town street bridge, a substantial structure, resisted the attack of the flood for many hours, and it was used constantly so long as it was considered safe. It was hard to believe that the current would ever carry it away.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

SWELL IN MISSISSIPPI THREATENS TROUBLE

Rich Sugar and Cotton Sections May Suffer Severely.

New Orleans, La., April 3.—The Mississippi river from Vicksburg, Miss., to the gulf will go two feet higher within the next few weeks than the highest stage registered last year, according to flood warnings issued by Captain C. O. Sherrill, army engineer, in charge of the fourth district of the Mississippi river commission.

It is feared that such a stage may spell disaster for the richest sugar and cotton sections of the United States.

Last year the maximum of the river gauge here showed nearly 22 feet. At that height and even with the tide reduced by several immense crevasses, water slopped over the New Orleans levee at a number of places, despite the fact that they were topped with several rows of sandbags. Captain Sherrill issued orders to have the levees from Vicksburg to Fort Jackson, on both sides, raised above the flood stage of 1912, and men and material are being sent to low points along the river to take steps to combat the expected high water in the lower Mississippi.

ONLY ONE STATE NEEDED

Direct Election of United States Senators Practically Assured.

Washington, April 3.—Senator Bristow of Kansas, author of the resolution for a constitutional amendment providing for direct election of United States senators, declared the resolution now lacks the ratification of only one state to make it effective. Senator Bristow's list shows that 35 states have ratified the amendment. He expects that Connecticut will be the thirty-sixth state which will make the long-sought reform a reality.

Smith Succeeds Bowers.

Washington, April 3.—George M. Bowers, federal commissioner of fisheries, sent his resignation to President Wilson to become effective April 10. Hugh M. Smith, deputy commissioner, is slated to succeed him.

COMMONS PASSES BILL HITTING HUNGER STRIKES.

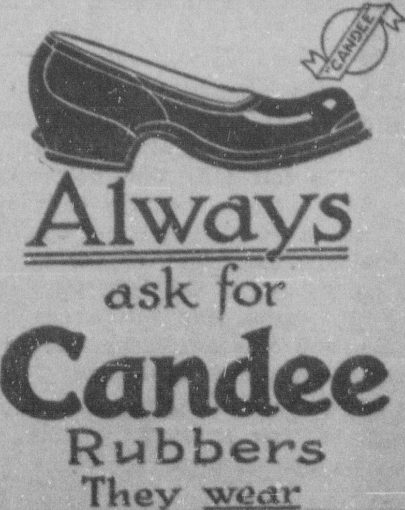

London, April 3.—The house of commons passed on its second reading the bill of Home Secretary McKenna in regard to the treatment of militant suffragets who go on hunger strikes when they are confined to jail for some offense, by a vote of 296 to 43. The measure provides that these hunger strikers who are released from prison because of their physical condition may be rearrested and compelled to serve out their sentences.

Democrats Sweep Chicago.

Chicago, April 3.—Democrats swept the city in the municipal election, returning 22 aldermen and the superior court judge, city clerk and city treasurer. The proposed bond issue of $2,880,000, urged by the Hearst-Harrison faction of the Democratic party, carried by a small margin.

Pass Sterilization Bill.

St. Paul, Minn., April 3.—By a vote of 61 to 45 the lower house of the Minnesota legislature passed a bill providing for sterilization by the state of defectives, habitual criminals and degenerates.

FOLLOWING IN WAKE OF FALLING RIVER READY FOR THE WORK OF RELIEF

Serious Trouble Expected in the Lower Ohio Valley.

ARMY MEN TO FIGHT FLOOD

Plans Perfected to Cope With the Situation as the Crest Nears the Mississippi River — Provisions and Tents Forwarded to Threatened Points in Kentucky, Missouri and Other States.

Washington, April 3.—The Ohio flood having reached its crest at Cincinnati and started to recede, Major Normoyle, in charge of the relief operations at that post, made further plans to cope with the situation as the crest moves into the lower Ohio Valley to the Mississippi.

"We are looking for trouble in the lower Ohio valley," said Major Normoyle, in a report received by Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, who returned with Secretary Garrison from a trip into the flood area.

In order to keep relief measures ahead of the flood, Major Normoyle said he had ordered provisions, tents and army flood relief experts into Carruthersville, Charres and New Madrid, Mo.; Hickman, Columbus and Wickliffe, Ky.; Dyersburg and Tiptonville, Tenn.; Helena, Ark., as well as Memphis.

"Major Logan as advance scout," Major Normoyle's report added, "will get all possible information and we will throw officers and noncommissioned officers where they can do the best work in anticipation of trouble, which will soon come throughout the valley."

Only One Body Missing.

Delaware, O., April 3.—A shoe extending from the mud beside the river led to an investigation which resulted in the recovery of the body of Mrs. Grover Slossen, 22, the seventeenth to be found. Only the body of Miss Hazel Dunlap has not yet been recovered.

G. O. P. LEADERS TRYING THE WORK OF GETTING IN LINE RECALCITRANTS

REPUBLICANS TO MEET

Senator Cummins Working Incessantly to Secure a Conference.

Washington, April 3.—The call for a national conference of Republicans looking to the rehabilitation of the Republican party soon will be issued. This statement was made on authority of Senator Cummings of Iowa, who has been working incessantly for several weeks to secure such a conference at an early date. The senator from Iowa held conferences with leading Republicans while in the west recently and later saw leaders in New York. It is understood he practically served notice on Chairman Hilles and others connected with the Republican national committee that unless they issued the call as an organization some of the progressive Republicans would call a conference on their individual responsibility. The date and place of the conference have not been settled.

Benefactors Now Suffering.

Columbus, O., April 3.—Instances where those who have harbored refugees from the flood-stricken districts are themselves suffering, because of lack of food, have been brought to the attention of the registration department at the city hall. As fast as possible these people are being relieved of the care of the West Side residents who have been given places in other homes. Those charitably inclined specified the number they could care for, and it now seems their capabilities were overestimated.

Still Over High Mark.

Gallipolis, O., April 3.—The government gauge here today showed the river had gone down two feet below the 1884 mark of 64.2 feet. The high water mark this year was 66.6 feet, or 28 inches above the record made in 1884. The water still inundates houses in the flooded section, many of them submerged to the first floor.

Massillon Asks Aid.

Massillon, O., April 3.—Massillon sent to Governor Cox an appeal for food supplies and also bedding for 100 beds. The north end of the city was twice threatened by fire when buildings undergoing the drying process caught fire from overheated stoves.

Experts Saying Proposed Measure Won't Do

week or so ago. At that time the president appeared to favor putting all food and farm products on the free list. Among the articles that contribute to the market basket which President Wilson believes should either be admitted free or under the lowest possible rates are: All kinds of meats, cattle, butter, cheese, milk and eggs, potatoes and other vegetables, grain, all forms of bread and biscuit, flour, sugar and other foods.

The wool schedule is a cause of great concern among Democrats, and although President Wilson inclines toward free raw wool, it is likely that the committee, for revenue reasons, will be obliged to recommend a 15 per cent duty on this product.

CAUSE OF THE FLOODS

Rainfall in Ohio Last Week Smashed All Previous Records.

Columbus, O., April 3.—The rainfall in Ohio from Sunday to Wednesday of last week was greater than ever before, according to the records of Director J. Warren Smith of the United States weather station at Columbus. Director Smith brought a chart to Governor Cox showing the rainfall in different flooded centers.

The rainfall in Columbus was 6.97 as compared with 4.66 in the flood of 1898. In Delaware it was 7.87 as compared with 4.32 in 1898. The highest rainfall was at Bellefontaine, which registered 11.16. It was 2.50 there in 1898. The Dayton rainfall was 8.94 and that of Cleveland 7.28. In Cincinnati it was 3.; Toledo, 6.16; Pittsburg, 3.56.

Middle Ohio had the largest rainfall. Marion county had 10.61; Wyandot, 10.41; south Richland, 10.56; Summit, 9.65; Crawford, 9.75, and Hocking, 3.75.

The average rainfall for the state per year is 39 inches, so it will be seen that the rainfall for the first four days of last week was nearly as much as falls in a third of a year.

Department Store Burns.

Janesville, Wis., April 3.—Janesville experienced the most disastrous fire in its history today, and for a time the entire West Side business district was threatened. The blaze started in the department store of Reid & Company and quickly communicated to adjoining stores. Rockford, Ill., and Beloit sent fire companies on special trains. The loss is estimated at $350,000 to $450,000.

Good Cop, but Not a Fighter.

New York, April 3.—Fred Mackay of Winnipeg may be a good policeman, but he is not a fighter. He was convicted of this fact when Gumbo Smith of California knocked him out in the second round at the Fairmount Athletic club. Smith put the giant away with a tremendous right-hand swing on the point of the jaw, while 8,000 fans laughed in derision.

DISTILLERY COLLAPSES

Five Thousand Barrels of Whisky Float Down Ohio River.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—A large warehouse of the Rugby Distillery company, in the western end of the city, weakened by flood waters, collapsed, releasing to the river about 5,000 barrels of whisky, valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

The threatened collapse of weakened buildings was the only source of anxiety as the crest of the flood passed Louisville with a stage of slightly more than 45 feet.

Chicago's Donation to Ohio.

Chicago, April 3.—Chicago's relief fund for the flood sufferers reached $400,000. The Chicago Association of Commerce, at the request of the American National Red Cross society, shipped to Columbus 6,000 mattresses, 10,000 blankets, 5,000 pairs of women's shoes, 5,000 pairs of children's shoes, 29 bolts of cotton cloth, 5,000 mops, 10,000 brooms, 15,000 scrubbing brushes, 5,000 hoes, 5,000 shovels, 200 rakes; one car of soap, one car of cleaning powder and 5,000 pairs of women's rubbers.
